Novogradac & Company LLP To Present Its 8th Annual Affordable Housing Conference September 20 – 22 in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO – Industry professionals from across the nation will gather at Novogradac & Company LLP's 8th Annual Affordable Housing Conference at San Francisco's Hotel Nikko from September 20 – 22 to explore the challenges they face as the compliance period comes to an end in 2002 for the first 23,000 housing units produced with the low-income housing tax credit (LIHC).

"It is time to focus on what will happen to these projects," says Michael J. Novogradac, managing partner at Novogradac & Company LLP, a national consulting and certified public accounting firm. "Our conference will discuss the year-15 issues and industry professionals will discover how they can maintain and expand the nation's critical affordable multifamily housing stock."

In addition, industry participants will explore current issues and strategies, including the outlook for 2002 equity markets, the energy crisis and its effect on construction and design, opportunities in New Markets tax credits, as well as a myriad of other topics.
