Statement by Congressman Boehner on President Obama's Address to a Joint Session of Congress

Sep 8, 2011

Washington

Congressman John Boehner (R-West Chester) issued the following statement after President Obama's address to a joint session of Congress:

"American families and small businesses are hurting, and they are looking for the White House and Congress to seek common ground and work together to help get our economy back on track. Republicans have laid out a blueprint for economic growth and job creation – our Plan for America's Job Creators – that focuses on one thing: removing government barriers to private-sector job growth.

"The proposals the President outlined tonight merit consideration. We hope he gives serious consideration to our ideas as well. It's my hope that we can work together to end the uncertainty facing families and small businesses, and create a better environment for long-term economic growth and private-sector job creation."
