

NCHFA Full Application Update

Over the past week, we have received numerous emails and phone calls about the COVID-19 pandemic causing delays in obtaining items necessary for full application submission. With that in mind, we offer the following update on the full application.

While the full application deadline remains noon on May 15, 2020, we are providing temporary relief for any required application document an Applicant is unable to obtain (including rezoning) by the full application deadline. This temporary relief does not include project plans which must be submitted in electronic and hard copy format by the May 15, 2020 noon deadline.

For any document not provided at full application, the Applicant must upload a statement indicating why the document is not being provided and a date by which it will be provided. All documents must be provided to the Agency no later than July 15, 2020. Failure in meeting this deadline will result in the application being removed from the competition. Future guidance will be given as to the process for providing required documents after application submission. We expect awards to be made in August but that is subject to change as circumstances with COVID-19 continue to evolve.

We appreciate your patience as we work to move forward with the 2020 cycle under these highly unusual circumstances. Please continue to keep us informed of any potential issues you encounter and reach out if you have questions or concerns. Please stay safe and healthy.
